Dr. Ben Sword, Associate Dean College of Liberal and Fine Arts O.A. Grant, Suite 241 Box T-0190 Stephenville, Texas 76402 (254) 968-9141 sword@tarleton.edu www.tarleton.edu/colfa/ (http://www.tarleton.edu/colfa/)

The College of Liberal and Fine Arts has two missions. First, to provide courses in the humanities, social sciences, and fine arts that comprise part of the general education requirements required of all University students; and secondly, to provide major fields of study in the social sciences, humanities, fine arts, and criminal justice.

Degree programs available in the College of Liberal and Fine Arts provide the foundation required for many professional and related fields. Also included are specialized programs that are professionally oriented and lead to careers in such fields as teaching, criminal justice, and the performing arts. The College of Liberal and Fine Arts is organized into five departments and one school:

- a. Department of Communication Studies
- b. Department of English and Languages, including Foreign Languages
- c. Department of Government, Legal Studies and Philosophy
- d. Department of History, Geography and GIS
- e. Department of Performing Arts, including Music, Dance, and Theatre
- f. Department of Visual Arts and Design, including Art and Digital Media Studies
- g. School of Criminology, Criminal Justice, and (https://www.tarleton.edu/criminology/)Public Administration (https://www.tarleton.edu/criminology/)
  - i. Department of Public Administration
  - ii. Department of Criminal Justice

The College of Liberal and Fine Arts also offers discipline-specific minors, interdisciplinary minors, and certificates. A minor consists of 18 hours (six hours must be advanced level 3000 or 4000 courses), and certificate requirements vary (see below for respective requirements). Below is a list of minors and certificates offered in the College of Liberal and Fine Arts:
